POACHERS

SINCE 1991

ABOUT POACHERS

In 1991, our small family business began around our love of good food and sharing it with family and friends. From simple beginnings as an artisan smokehouse, we have grown to include the Smokehouse Restaurant, Poachers Vineyard, Farm Shop, Cellar Door, country wedding and event destination.

Second-generation grape grower William Bruce, has a passion for growing exceptional quality cool climate grapes, working to ensure the Poachers Vineyard is one of the best in the Canberra District. Our award-winning wines can be sampled at our Cellar Door, located within the Smokehouse Restaurant.

THE POACHERS VINEYARD

The Poachers Vineyard sits on granite hills that lie between Murrumbateman and Canberra, in the heart of the Canberra Wine District.

The vineyard is unique with two sites, both with varying aspects and soils.

The Ahchow Hill site is north facing, making it perfect for growing our chardonnay, sauvignon blanc and sangiovese.

The Nanima Block faces east, allowing the shiraz, pinot noir and riesling grapes to bask in the light of the morning sun, while being protected from the western sun by the shade of the granite hills behind the vines.

Warm summer days and cool evenings provide the perfect environment for cool climate grape growing. The climate extends the ripening period, allowing the soft fragrance and complex flavours to develop.

The granite loam soils, rich in minerals are on a clay base that holds the moisture over long, hot summers.

As the pinot noir and chardonnay flower first, they are located at the high point in the vineyard. This allows the cool frosty spring air to slip down the hillside and away from the vines.

Late summer to mid autumn is when it's time to carefully hand-pick the grapes, ready for the wine-making process to begin.

WINEMAKING

SPARKLING

The first grapes to come off the vines are those for the sparkling wine. We hand pick the Chardonnay and Pinot Noir at 10.5 baumé with good acidity.

The grapes are then carefully whole bunch pressed and fermented at cool temperatures before bottle fermentation takes place.

WHITES

The white grapes are carefully handpicked between 11.5 and 12.5 baume and gently pressed in the winery. Our Riesling and Sauvignon Blanc are fermented in stainless steel tanks while our Chardonnay is fermented in French Oak barrels.

REDS

Handpicked at 12.5 to 13 baume, the grapes are then fermented in two tonne open top fermenters with varying percentages of the whole bunch depending on the varietal and season.

Once fermentation is complete, our reds are transferred to French oak barrels for maturation.
